Joe and Annette's Story

Joe Walker and Annette Ross met in college in the early 1990s. They were both immediately drawn to each other, and they quickly fell in love. They were married a few years later, and they soon started a family. They had two children, a boy and a girl.

In 2016, Annette was diagnosed with a rare and aggressive form of cancer. The doctors told her that she had just months to live. Joe was devastated, but he refused to give up hope. He spent every waking moment by Annette's side, caring for her and showering her with love.

Annette underwent chemotherapy and radiation, but the cancer continued to spread. The doctors told Joe that there was nothing more they could do.

But Joe refused to give up. He started researching alternative treatments, and he found a clinical trial that was testing a new drug.

Annette enrolled in the clinical trial, and the results were amazing. The new drug shrank the tumors and put Annette's cancer into remission. Joe and Annette were overjoyed. They had been given a second chance at life.
